

NEW CLASSICAL DICTIONARIES, NOW READY.

DICTIONARY OF GREEK AND ROMAN BIOGRAPHY AND MYTHOLOGY.

BY VARIOUS WRITERS.

EDITED BY DR. WILLIAM SMITH.

Complete in Three Volumes medium 8vo, £5 15s. 6d. cloth lettered.

"The book is condensed, well-digested, well-proportioned, and, considering the extent of subject, wonderfully complete. There is nothing superfluous either in matter or style. There was too much to be said, and too little space to put it in, to allow the privilege of diffuseness to any of the writers. The book is the reverse of pedantical or merely scholastic in its tone, and is, in fact, designed for every class of readers. Whether the school-boy seeks his first acquaintance with its historical and mythic personages, or the student desires larger views to correct his first impressions, or the man of more mature years would recall the knowledge of his youth to obtain examples and comparisons for the business of life, the Dictionary will be acceptable to all. We can imagine no one from whom it does not challenge eager welcome."—Examiner.

DICTIONARY OF GREEK AND ROMAN ANTIQUITIES.

BY VARIOUS WRITERS.

EDITED BY DR. WILLIAM SMITH.

Second Edition. Revised throughout, with very numerous Additions and Alterations. One thick volume 8vo, with several hundred Engravings on Wood. £2 2s.

"Great improvements have been made in this work since the first edition. Many of the most important articles have been re-written, several omitted subjects supplied, and the whole subjected to thorough revision. Beside additional illustrations, the present volume contains more than three hundred pages of new matter."—Examiner.

. The Articles in the two Works have been contributed by the following writers:—

A SCHOOL DICTIONARY OF ANTIQUITIES;

SELECTED AND ABRIDGED FROM THE "DICTIONARY OF GREEK AND ROMAN ANTIQUITIES."

BY WILLIAM SMITH, LL.D.

One small volume, 200 Woodcuts. 10s. 6d.

"This abridgment of the larger "Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities," undertaken, by-the-bye, at the suggestion of the head master of one of our great public schools, admirably supplies a long-felt want, especially in classical tuition—that of a single volume, of portable size, exhibiting in an alphabetical form the results of the labours of modern scholars in both Greek and Roman Antiquity."—English Journal of Education.

THE ART OF ETCHING ON COPPER. BY ALFRED ASHLEY.

Illustrated with Fourteen Etchings by the Author. Elegantly bound in a Cover designed by OWEN JONES.

Much attention having been directed to Etching, by the recent case, PRINCE ALBERT v. STRANGE, the Author deems the present a favourable opportunity for the introduction of the above work, feeling assured, that so high an example of taste for the Art, as that set by her Majesty and her Royal Consort, will cause many to seek for information concerning the process: this the Author has attempted, and, by avoiding technicalities, and laying down certain rules, hopes to render this beautiful Art clear and familiar to all desirous of engaging in it.

Ready in a few days, 8vo, cloth, price 14s.,

OLD LONDON BRIDGE.

CONFessions OF CON CREGAN, THE IRISH GIL BLAS.

"The manner of the writer happily corresponds with his matter. An easier flow of narration, without obtrusive familiarity, or a yet more offensive untidiness, does not occur to us than we find in 'Con Cregan.' . . . We should be disposed to bet on 'Con Cregan' as more likely to carry himself very far, and his public completely away, than ninety-nine out of the hundred novels of the Picaroon school."—Athenæum.

In Monthly Parts, price 2s. 6d. each, to be completed in Six Parts, of a New and Comprehensive ATLAS OF PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY, constructed by A. PENDENNIS:

HIS FORTUNES AND MISFORTUNES, HIS FRIENDS, AND HIS GREATEST ENEMY.

"The present work begins well. There is, so far as the impression can be conveyed by manner, a suggestion here of preconceived design; and we recognise the hand that accomplished itself in 'Vanity Fair' laying in the grounds on which that design is to be wrought out."—Athenaeum.

"We recognise in 'Pendennis' the able and vigorous intellect which evinced so intimate a knowledge of life and such inimitable powers of portraiture in 'Vanity Fair.' Mr. Thackeray's sympathies are all healthy and invigorating—there is an indomitable spirit of English frankness and manliness about him—he is the sworn enemy of all humbug and pretension, and the good-humoured but effective satire and ridicule with which he assails them, his extraordinary aptitude in the delineation of character, and his happy facility in seizing its salient points, the quiet unpremeditatedness with which his thoughts flow from his pen, and the tone of wholesome morality which pervades his writings, all combine to render him deservedly popular." Morning Herald.

In One Volume 8vo, illustrated with Forty Steel Engravings, and Numerous Woodcuts, by the Author, price 21s. in cloth, or 24s. 6d. half-bound in morocco,

VANITY FAIR.

"We were little prepared for the keen observation, the deep wisdom, and the consummate art, which Mr. Thackeray has interwoven in the slight texture and whimsical pattern of 'Vanity Fair.' It is one of the most amusing books we have read for many a long year." Quarterly Review.

"'Vanity Fair' must be admitted to be one of the most original works of real genius that has of late been given to the world. It will take a lasting place in our literature." Examiner.

"Mr. Thackeray's pathos has an effect that is really refreshing. It reminds one of the exquisite touches which occur in Fielding's 'Amelia.'" Times.

"Knowledge of life, good-humoured satire, penetration into motive power of characterisation, and great truthfulness, are qualities in fiction as rare as they are admirable; and no work that has been published for many years past can claim these qualities so largely as 'Vanity Fair.'" Athenaeum.

In One volume, small 8vo, price 7s., with Ten Illustrations on Steel by the Author,

THE HISTORY OF SAMUEL TITMARSH

AND

THE GREAT HOGGARTY DIAMOND.

"It may not be so caustic as 'Vanity Fair,' or so funny as 'Pendennis,' but it is nevertheless one of the most perfect of Mr. Thackeray's prose productions."—Observer.

"It is a tale which will be read with very considerable interest, and which, if written by an ordinary man, would go not a little way to establish his reputation. There is much of that quiet piquancy and homely wit displayed throughout its pages for which Mr. Thackeray has made himself so remarkable." Sunday Times.

"The quaint and humorous character of Mr. Thackeray's writings is well known to the reading public, and 'The Great Hoggarty Diamond' displays in the strongest light the agreeable peculiarities of his style. The leading moral of the tale, viz., 'that speculations are hazardous, and that honesty is the best policy,' is enforced in the truest but most ludicrous colours. The volume is embellished with many appropriate designs from the pencil of the author." Morning Herald.

BOOK

3. AUTHORSHIP BY CHOICE.
4. THE FRIEND OF JOHNSON, BURKE, AND REYNOLDS: DRAMATIST, NOVELIST, AND POET.

BY JOHN FORSTER,

Of the Inner Temple, Barrister, Author of "Lives of Statesmen of the Commonwealth."

"A fitting, and we think, a permanent companion to the works of the author whose career it commemorates:—a gentle but a manly apology for the life, which it tracks through each pathetic transition of light and shadow: written in that spirit of which Goldsmith himself would have approved—pleasing while it instructs us, mild without tameness, earnest without acerbity."—Edinburgh Review.

Bradbury & Evans, 11, Bouvierie Street; and Chapman & Hall, 186, Strand.

WORKS BY MR. G. A. A'BECKETT.

In Two Volumes, handsomely bound in cloth, price 21s.

THE COMIC HISTORY OF ENGLAND. ILLUSTRATED BY JOHN LEECH.

WITH TWO HUNDRED WOODCUTS, AND TWENTY LARGE COLOURED STEEL ENGRAVINGS.

* * * The Design of this Work is to blend amusement with instruction, by furnishing the Facts of English History in a highly-entertaining form without sacrificing the truth, which it is hoped has rather gained than lost by the mode of treatment that has been adopted.

"Mr. á Beckett deserves much credit apart from the great humour of his pages, for the fidelity with which he has adhered to the facts of history; so that whilst we laugh, and laugh heartily, we are insensibly imbuing knowledge of a subject not always the most attractive to the general reader. We dare assume that many who would fear to seek an acquaintance with Clio through the stately introduction of a Clarendon, would not hesitate to accept the less dignified assistance of our Comic Historian. The artist has ably seconded the historian. The burlesque of Mr. Leech is peculiarly his own; for, amid the incongruities in which he seems to revel, objects of beauty, and much evidence of purpose, are always discernable." Times.
